HUMOR TRIVIA

- Clowns will tell you they're especially sad. And Charlie Chaplin implied as much, too, when he said: "Laughter is the tonic, the relief, the surcease for pain."
- Was reported here that the face of every professional clown is made up in a unique pattern not to be copied by any other clown. Client asks, "How can the clowns prevent that happening by accident?" They paint their faces on eggshells kept in circus records.
- Credit George Carlin for the line: "Thank God the telephone wasn't invented by Alexander Graham Siren."
